Dearly beloved in Christ,

Greetings to you all in the precious name of our Risen Lord.

We are living in a time when humanity continues to experience the immeasurable love and unfailing goodness of God in countless ways. Yet, even after receiving such grace, many struggle to honor God wholeheartedly, to live selflessly, to forgive one another, and to uphold the dignity and worth of fellow human beings. In the midst of such spiritual realities, the Church is called to proclaim once again the transforming message of the Gospel that renews hearts, restores relationships, and leads people into the fullness of life in Christ.

As we enter the month of June, the themes placed before us by the Church are deeply relevant not only to our personal spiritual journeys but also to the challenges faced by Christian communities in the United States today. These reflections invite us to examine whether our faith is merely a tradition we practice or a living witness that shapes our thoughts, relationships, decisions, and daily conduct.

“Jesus: The Ultimate Influencer” reminds us that in a world shaped by social media voices, cultural pressures, and temporary ideologies, Jesus Christ alone remains the perfect model for humanity. His influence was never built upon power, popularity, or manipulation, but upon sacrificial love, humility, truth, compassion, and obedience to the will of God. The disciples left everything because they encountered a life that reflected the Kingdom of God. The Mar Thoma Church, grounded in the authority of Scripture and the reformed apostolic faith, continually calls believers to center their lives on Christ and not on the changing values of the world.

“Creation Speaks of God” calls us to rediscover the presence and majesty of God through His creation. In a society increasingly driven by materialism and environmental neglect, Christians are reminded that the earth is God’s gift entrusted to humanity for responsible stewardship.

The beauty of creation reveals the glory of the Creator. From the teachings of the Holy Bible to the sacramental understanding of worship within the Mar Thoma tradition, we are encouraged to respect creation as part of our spiritual responsibility and Christian witness.

"Call and Commission to be Christ's Disciples" challenges every believer to move beyond passive faith into active discipleship. Christian discipleship is not limited to Sunday worship alone. It is reflected in our homes, workplaces, schools, and communities. In the multicultural and diverse context of the United States, the Church is called to be a witnessing community that demonstrates reconciliation, justice, compassion, and servant leadership. Our faith becomes meaningful when it is lived out through love, humility, and commitment to God's mission.

"Worship: In God's Presence, for God's Purpose" reminds us that worship is not merely a ritual or weekly obligation, but a sacred encounter with the living God. True worship transforms individuals and prepares them to become instruments of God's peace in the world. The Holy Qurbana especially teaches us that worship and service are inseparable. When we gather around the Lord's Table, we are strengthened to go out and serve others with Christ-like love and mercy.

"Break the Chain: Finding Freedom from Addictions" speaks powerfully to the realities faced by many families and individuals today. Addiction is not limited to substances alone; it may include unhealthy attachments to technology, wealth, pride, anger, or destructive habits that distance us from God and one another. Christ came to liberate humanity from every form of bondage. The Church must therefore remain a place of healing, restoration, accountability, and hope. Through prayer, fellowship, counseling, and spiritual discipline, believers are invited to experience the freedom found in Christ.

Throughout Christian history, faithful witnesses have reflected these truths in their lives. One inspiring example is Dietrich Bonhoeffer, who stood firmly for Christ amidst injustice and oppression during a dark period of world history. His commitment to discipleship, truth, and sacrificial faith continues to inspire Christians around the world. Likewise, many ordinary believers in our own generation quietly reflect Christ through acts of forgiveness, service, generosity, and steadfast faithfulness in difficult circumstances.

As members of the Mar Thoma Church and as part of the faith community of Mar Thoma Church Atlanta Georgia Parish, let us prayerfully reflect upon these themes during this month. May our homes become centers of prayer, our worship become authentic, our relationships reflect Christ's love, and our lives bear witness to the transforming power of the Gospel.

May the Lord strengthen us to live as faithful disciples who honor God, love one another sincerely, and shine as witnesses of hope in the world.

Yours in Christ's service,
Jacob Thomas Achen
Vicar
